Offering Hope During the COVID Pandemic

Jobs for workers with only a high school diploma, especially those in the service and hospitality industries, have been made scarce by the COVID pandemic. Many NTCC students worked in those sectors while attending school, and unemployment has put them at risk of leaving college before completing their degree or workforce certification.

But NTCC is offering hope to those students and others who have lost their jobs through rapid workforce development programs to support the needs of our region. The Northshore College Enhancement Foundation provides additional resources to help students meet their goals, including scholarships, supports for program development, and capital improvements to our campuses.

The foundation also provides relief for students' immediate needs through our "NTCC Cares" project which maintains campus food pantries for students experiencing food insufficiency and crisis funds for things like a few gallons of gas to get to school. Please consider a year-end donation to the Northshore College Enhancement Foundation to support opportunities for our students. Let's bring them hope. Let's build futures together.

NTCC Social Justice Movement Call to Action

The tragic killing of George Floyd on May 25th reignited a social justice movement across the United States and abroad. Two-year colleges in Louisiana were called to action by Dr. Monty Sullivan, President of the Louisiana Community and Technical College System (LCTCS) towards "condemning racial inequality, while establishing an inclusive and respectful environment for America's future." Chancellor William Wainwright challenged our college community to further advance the idea that "the power of one fuels the power of everyone, and racism and discrimination have no place in advancing society." As integral engines spurring forward our local communities, the technical and community colleges across our state have a responsibility to ensure pathways to prosperity are trailblazed for all members of our community, regardless of race, gender, or orientation.

In response, NTCC established a college-wide "Call to Action" task force aimed at creating a plan for sustainable action to guide NTCC's response to addressing social justice. To ensure this focus is firmly integrated throughout the institution, Dr. Wainwright led the transition of the Call to Action task force into a permanent standing committee and elevated diversity, equity, and inclusion initiatives as a component of the college's executive cabinet through the Vice Chancellor of Students Affairs. To date, college-wide efforts have included the rebranding our "Disability Services" office to a more inclusive focus on "Accessibility Services" and administration of the college's first Diversity and Equity Campus Climate Survey. Results of the survey will facilitate a data-driven approach to future social justice initiatives. NTCC is well-positioned for ongoing, impactful action that further ensures our college is welcoming to all members of our community and ensuring each student, employee, and community member is able to successfully engage with resources at our institution.

I knew when I graduated from Hannan High School that I wanted to attend NTCC. I fell in love with their Maritime Technology program and immediately started taking courses to achieve my [Associates of Applied Sciences] degree. NTCC gave me the opportunity for real life experiences while taking the courses necessary to be successful in this field.

NTCC History

Louisiana's vocational technical education system originally began as "trade schools" in the thirties and has evolved to vocational schools, vocational technical schools, vocational technical institutes, and at present, technical colleges. This revolution is the result of a redesigned curriculum that blends technical education and applied academics ultimately leading to a certificate, diploma, and/or the associate of applied science degree, the credential of preference by many business, industry, and labor interests.

Effective July 1, 2006, the 21st Century Model for the Delivery of Technical Education, and during fiscal year 2005-06, the Louisiana Legislature mandated the restructuring of Louisiana Technical College, creating regional centers comprised of a cluster of technical college campuses in a single area. The latest reorganization in March 2010 configured the Louisiana Technical College Region 9 to Northshore Technical College. During the 2011 Louisiana Legislative session, an action was signed into law creating Act 209 changing the name and focus of the college from Northshore Technical College to Northshore Technical Community College.

Along with this action the college mission was changed to reflect the new focus of the college and the current Regional Director, William S. Wainwright, was appointed Chancellor.
